Year-End Review 2017

The North American League offers Series in five divisions – Adult Jumper Presented by SmartPak, Children's Jumper Presented by EquiFit, Low Junior/Amateur-Owner Jumper, Adult Hunter and Children's Hunter. The Series includes classes held at hundreds of horse shows across the United States and Canada. The North American League (NAL) gives riders in these divisions a chance to ride in year-end finals at two major indoor shows – The NAL West Coast Finals at the International Jumping Festival in San Juan Capistrano in September and the NAL National Finals at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show at Harrisburg in October.

The winners of each Final were presented with fantastic awards including gift certificates generously donated by EquiFit, SmartPak, and The Clothes Horse, an NAL coolerette, and a trophy from the International Jumping Festival. Every rider that competed in the NAL Finals received a gift bag with an assortment of gifts from the NAL including a commemorative NAL Finals stall plaque and photo box.

This annual newsletter encompasses articles about each of the North American League's five division winners from the West Coast Finals and the National Finals.

Shota Ogomori and SIG Beaujolais Win $5,000 NAL West Coast Low Junior/Amateur-Owner Final

NAL first-timer Shota Ogomori of Torrance, CA, and SIG International's SIG Beaujolais clinched the $5,000 NAL West Coast Low Junior/Amateur-Owner Final, beating an impressive field of 27 entries.

"Competing in the NAL Final was a very rewarding experience!" said Ogomori. "I just did one class to qualify and went straight to the Finals. The jump-off was something I will always remember in particular. I'd really like to do the NAL Finals again next year."

Ogomori has been riding the nine-year-old SIG Beaujolais for almost a year and they've developed a good partnership together.

"I have been very pleased with her," said Ogomori. "Hopefully we can move up to the 1.40m next year and strive for more success! She is a mare, so she can have her good days and not so good days. She's a little sensitive about her surroundings, but tries her heart out when jumping. She has a mighty heart in a small body. She loves people and loves being touched."

Ogomori began riding when he was a tiny tot at just two years-old. Now 18 years-old and a high school senior, he focuses on school work and riding. For the past year and a half he's been training with Chris Pratt and Epic Stables in San Diego, CA. He also rides with Devon Gibson at Sea Horse Riding Club. He rides every day except for Mondays, and his favorite things to do are pole exercises and flat work.

Representing the country of Japan, Ogomori began competing at the international level in FEI competitions when he was just 15 years old. He also won the National Junior Championship in Japan, which he considers to be his biggest riding accomplishments so far.

When asked about his favorite horse show Ogomori commented, "Spruce Meadows was probably the best experience I could ever get and showing in the FEI classes truly taught me so much. The atmosphere and watching all the top riders was remarkable."

In his free time Ogomori likes to watch videos of top riders competing, or teaching videos from Germany's Marcus Ehning.

"The biggest influences on my riding are Felix HaBmann, Marcus Ehning, Kent Farrington, and of course, my trainer Chris Pratt," remarked Ogomori. "My future goals are to compete in the Asian Games, World Equestrian Games, and the Olympics while studying business in college."

Tara Brown Stocks and High Hopes Won The $5,000 NAL West Coast Adult Jumper Final, Presented by SmartPak

Tara Brown Stocks of Coto De Caza, CA, won the $5,000 NAL West Coast Adult Jumper Final, Presented by SmartPak aboard High Hopes, topping a field of 19 entries at the International Jumping Festival.

“We’ve been training really hard,” said Stocks. “When I first started back riding a couple years ago, my friend highly recommended doing the NAL and I’m glad I did. I’ve really enjoyed it and can’t wait to be part of the NAL again next year!”

Stocks began riding when she was nine-years-old when her neighbor took her under her wing and let her tag along to the stables. From day one she was hooked.

After a ten-year hiatus from riding, Stocks decided to get back in the saddle two years ago and returned to trainers Joe and Katie Lifo of Pacific Coast Show Jumpers, with whom she began training with when she was 12-years-old.

“Joe and Katie are my biggest riding influences,” said Stocks. “They not only educate me about riding and horses in general, but they also teach me a lot about myself. It’s also amazing what a horse can teach you about yourself if you stop and take the time to ‘listen.’ Outside of riding, my biggest influences are my parents, my close family, and God. As a collective team they make me want to be a better person and help me do so by guiding me with love, support, and advice. But only when asked of course – haha!”

“High Hopes is a saint!” Stocks exclaimed. “My trainer found him for me and I’ve had him for a year now. He’s a really good boy and very, very honest.

“My favorite thing to do with my horses is spend alone time with them during night check when it is very quiet and dark,” said Stocks. “That’s when I like to go into their stalls and spend time with them. I believe that you need to let your horse know that you care for them and show some appreciation for what they do for you in the ring. Some people may laugh at that, but I have done that since I was a child with all my horses and not one of them has ever let me down. The only difference is that I don’t have to sneak out now that I am in my thirties!”

When asked about her goals in life, it’s clear that Stocks is enjoying her life’s path along with her success in the ring. “Do I want to push myself harder? Absolutely. But I have to think about my daughter and the time I get to spend with her,” Stocks commented. “My dream as a child was to do the Grand Prix. Maybe one day and maybe not. But what I do know is that I just want to have fun, be happy, safe and enjoy the life I have. It is a very blessed one and sadly it goes so fast.”

Tanna Seltzer and Lotta 167 Victorious in $5,000 NAL West Coast Children's Jumper Final Presented by EquiFit

The competition was tough in the $5,000 NAL West Coast Children's Jumper Final Presented by EquiFit, as 29 horse-and-rider combinations vied for the title. In the end, it was Tanna Seltzer of Encinitas, CA, aboard Lotta 167, owned by Morning Star Sport Horses LLC, who came out on top in her first-ever NAL Final.

"I actually haven't been doing jumpers for that long - I did ponies," said Seltzer, who started competing in the NAL last year when she began competing in jumper classes. "I've been moving up slowly and working very hard at home with Lotta, a horse I lease that has been showing me the ropes in the jumper classes. It's been a lot of hard work coming off ponies, so I'm really happy with my result!"

Now a high school student, Seltzer began riding when she just five years-old. She considers one of her biggest accomplishments to be overcoming a childhood near-fatal riding accident. Despite that, her passion for the sport continued and she now trains under the watchful eye of Custis Ferguson out of Edal Ranch in Rancho Santa Fe,

California. Although she loves to compete, some of her favorite things to do with her horse are to practice without stirrups, ride bareback, and go trail riding.

With a goal of competing at the Grand Prix level someday, Seltzer seeks inspiration by watching top international riders and horses.

"At the moment I'm greatly influenced by watching French rider Eric Navet," commented Seltzer. "He looks like he is one with his horse and he's fast! My favorite horse to watch is [McLain Ward's] Rothchild because he's a fierce competitor. He's animated and looks like he's having fun."

After high school Seltzer plans on pursuing a career in the cinematic arts. When she's not studying or at the barn, she likes to spend her free time working on her editing projects, playing with her dogs, and longboarding.

When asked about her 'secret for success,' Seltzer remarked. "Hard work has always been my secret for success. I want to continue to learn to be a good horseman. I hope to get the opportunity to learn from many great riders and compete at prestigious show venues. I plan to take the opportunities I am given and learn from them. I also think it's very important to thank the people who help me."

West Coast Finals at International Jumping Festival

Amy Brubaker and Convaro Win $5,000 NAL West Coast Adult Hunter Final

Another rider who made an impressive NAL debut was Amy Brubaker of Salt Lake City, UT, who won the $5,000 NAL West Coast Adult Hunter Final aboard Convaro, owned by Michelle Kerivan. "It's been an amazing journey and competing in the NAL is so much fun!" said Brubaker, who decided to wear new riding boots on the day of competition despite her usual superstitions. "It's been one of my goals to ride in the NAL and we're going to do it again next year. And now I've got new lucky boots!"

"Convaro is an amazing horse," continued Brubaker. "He was 2014 USEF Zone 10 High Amateur Jumper Horse of the Year with Michelle, but I don't jump that high, so we had to retrain him a little bit to do the smaller jumps. He's amazing, super brave, and just takes care of me."

Brubaker, who started riding when she was nine years old in Lucas Valley, CA, reflected on her childhood riding experiences with great amusement. "It was all bareback riding and lots of getting bucked off on trail rides with LONG walks home!"

When asked about her favorite horse, horse show, and thing to do with her horses, some of Brubaker's answers were unique. "Every single horse is so special, so that's an unfair question," she said. "My favorite horse is the last one I rode and my favorite show is the last one I competed at. I LOVE to unbraid and wash my horse at the end of the show day. I know it sounds crazy, but I LOVE to ride in the rain!"

Brubaker resides in Salt Lake City where she rides with Jodi Ray at Promontory Riding Club. When she's in California she rides with Tracy Burroughs at the Huntington Central Park Equestrian Center. She keeps a very positive outlook on life and her riding goals. "At age 56 (ugh!) I'm old enough to be the grandmother of many of the wonderful young amateurs out there!" Brubaker said with a laugh. "I want to keep enjoying the time with my horses and remember to always have a healthy sense of humor when it comes to life."

One of Brubaker's most memorable riding experiences was with the 'founding father of hunt seat equitation.' "When I was a junior I rode in a clinic with George Morris, during which I was projected over my horse like a lawn dart," she recalled. "George walked over and asked me if I needed to go to the hospital. 'HECK NO!' I said, and he replied, 'Good now get back up on your horse and do it right this time!'"

When asked about her biggest influences both in and out of riding, Brubaker didn't hesitate to comment.

"Golly I am lucky to have so many positive role models," she remarked. "My parents – both gone – taught me that nothing comes without hard work. My oldest sister is the strongest and kindest person I have ever met. My husband encourages me to chase my dreams. Every horse I cross paths with reminds me how wonderful, gentle and forgiving they are. I'd also like to thank Convaro's owner Michelle for sharing him with me."

Lexie Looker and Wallace Win $5,000 NAL West Coast Children's Hunter Final

Lexie Looker of San Dimas, CA, and her own Wallace proved unbeatable in the $5,000 NAL West Coast Children's Hunter Final, claiming her first championship title in her third time competing in an NAL Final.

“This was only my fourth time showing Wallace, and I simply entered the Finals to get more practice and to have fun,” said Looker. “I was shocked and elated with the results!”

Describing Wallace, Looker remarked, “He’s definitely the family pet. He likes to be in your pocket at all times and his favorite snack is bananas. When we got him in 2014 he was a little skittish and nervous of people, but he really attached himself to me and my Mom. He loves getting attention and loves to snuggle. In fact, his nickname around the barn is Mr. Snuggles.”

Looker admitted the victory was one of her fondest NAL memories alongside placing sixth at the 2013 NAL Children’s Hunter National Final in Harrisburg aboard her other horse Paddington. She and Paddington went on to win the 2014 and 2016 USEF Horse of the Year in the 3’3” Juniors and 3’6” 16-17 Large Junior Hunters, respectively, which she considers to be her biggest riding accomplishments along with taking fourth place at the 2016 THIS Final at Capital Challenge aboard Winfield.

Looker looks to her mother, Tonia Looker, as her biggest riding influence. “We have our own farm so we keep our horses at home. My Mom and I ride together and we train each other. Since riding is a family affair, I think it’s been a big bonding point for us as well. I’ve also been fortunate enough to be trained by different professionals, including Tasha Visokay, Sean Leckie, Katie Taylor, Jamie Taylor, Kost and Jenny Karazissis, Archie Cox, Rose Carver, and Don Stewart at various horse shows.”

A freshman accounting major at Loyola Marymount University, Looker is particularly fond of math and science, but also has a passion for writing. After graduation she is planning on going to veterinary school and continuing to work in the family business. She balances college with riding three or four days a week. In her free time, Looker also enjoys Soul Cycling, and being a music DJ, another passion of hers.

In regards to her riding goals, Looker is focusing on excelling in the hunter and jumper divisions as an amateur next season.

“My favorite thing about riding is the relationship I’m able to create between myself and my horses,” said Looker. “To me, riding is much more about horsemanship than championships, and I think that has made my horses and me even closer.”

Mimi Gochman Takes Top Two Spots in $10,000 NAL Low Junior/Amateur-Owner Jumper National Final

Mimi Gochman, of Palm Beach, FL, showed everyone just how it is done, taking the top two spots in the $10,000 North American League (NAL) Low Junior/Amateur Owner National Final. Gochman, 13, was the only rider of the 29 starters to jump the course without penalty, accomplishing the feat not once but twice. She went 10th in the order with Everest De Muse, owned by Evergate Stables LLC, and 26th with Caleno 3, owned by Gotham Enterprizes LLC. Both horses were clear to advance to a jump-off, but Gochman chose to save her horses and decided the winner by their times over the first-round course. Everest De Muze finished the course in 64.273 seconds for first and Caleno 3 had a time of 68.371 for second place. "My horses were both very good, and to me they are both winners," Gochman said.

"Everest and Caleno are both trustworthy, and good-hearted horses," said Gochman. "They try very hard, and they both love showing. Caleno likes to be groomed, and he is very sweet when being tacked up. Everest loves peppermints, and we spoil him so much he often has pink lip stick. Caleno's favorite treats are bananas. He loves the soft sweet inside and he always looks so happy when you feed them to him."

Gochman's love for horses started at an early age. She sat on her first horse at 18 months old and never looked back. "I started showing in classes when I was very young," The seventh grader explained. "I started leadline when I was 3, and I started small ponies when I was around five years old."

Gochman grew up riding with her sister, Sophie. When they were younger they were more competitive, but now they enjoy cheering each other on. "We support each other and showing together does make us a little competitive, but at the end of the day we are on the same team and happy for each other's success," stated Gochman.

It was Gochman's first year doing jumpers at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show, host of the NAL National Finals, where she also won the Small Junior Hunter 15-and-Under Championship with her mount, Evermore.

"Riding at Harrisburg is very exciting," said Gochman. "The ring isn't as small as I thought it would be, but you do have to keep your horse together. If they get strung out it is very hard to get them back in such a tight ring. For the jumpers I just concentrate on being very accurate, keeping all the jumps up and supporting my horse. My goal is to do the highs next year and maybe the Prix de States."

When asked about her biggest influence, Gochman stated "My mom has been a very big influence in my riding career. She rode when she was young, and she got both Sophie and me inspired about the sport. She has always been supportive of the sport and she made me fall in love with it."

Lindsey Tomeu and Bonapart Won The $10,000 NAL Adult Jumper Final, Presented by SmartPak

The 2014 and 2015 NAL Adult Jumper Final Champion Lindsey Tomeu of West Palm Beach, FL, and her partner Bonapart, won the $10,000 NAL Adult Jumper Final Presented by SmartPak once again this year at Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

Tomeu and Bonapart were among the 14 entries from a starting field of 29 that qualified for the jump-off by riding clean over the first-round course designed by Bernardo Cabral of Portugal. The pair was last to go in the jump-off with a time to beat of 28.761. The 23-year old Tomeu and 16-year-old Bonapart blazed over the course fault-free in 27.776 seconds to clinch the win.

“This is his third time in these Finals and the third time he’s won which is probably why this is one of his favorite shows,” Tomeu said of Bonapart whom she’s been paired with since 2014.

“Anytime I overdo it with him, I lose. I am much better off if I don’t think too much and I just let him do his thing.

“I like to go last but usually I try not to watch the class because I get too anxious,” said Tomeu. “Today I did watch a few in the jump-off because we were deciding whether to go inside to jump three or to just gallop around; we decided to gallop around. He’s so fast and so careful that if I let him do what he needs to do then he usually pulls through.”

Tomeu’s mother used to ride, so Lindsey was around horses all the time and began riding at a very young age. For the past ten years, she has been training with Michael DelFiandra along with Ali and Shane Sweetnam of Sweet Oak Farm where she rides six days a week. Some of the favorite moments that she enjoys include a nice pleasant hack around the field.

A focused competitor, Lindsey’s goals are to win all the Adult Jumper Finals and Ariat Finals and she seems to be well on her way. Along with her three NAL Championship titles, Lindsey says her other biggest accomplishment so far is winning the Adult Jumper Championship at the 2017 Devon Horse Show, which is her favorite horse show. Tomeu has also won the NAL year-end standings 3 times.

“Devon is a totally different experience than any other show I’ve been to with the fair and the huge amount of spectators,” said Lindsey. “Also, getting to show at night is a great experience.”

When she’s not riding or showing, Lindsey likes to spend a lot of time with her family.

Caroline Michele Dugas and Skyfall Win $10,000 NAL Children's Jumper Final Presented by EquiFit

Caroline Michele Dugas of Birmingham, Alabama, won the $10,000 NAL Children's Jumper National Final Presented by EquiFit, at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show. Twenty eight horse-and-rider combinations took to the ring in the first round of the highly competitive class. Of the ten combinations that made it through to the jump-off, just four jumped clear again and it was Dugas and her own Skyfall, an 8-year-old Dutch Warmblood gelding, that were the fastest, crossing the timers in 27.550 seconds to clinch the win and her first NAL Final championship title.

"It was very exciting!" said an emotional Dugas. "I have the best horse in the whole world – he's amazing!"

"Skyfall never fails to amaze me," Dugas added about her favorite horse. "He is so fast and people think he is crazy, but when I ride him he always takes care of me!"

This is the second year Dugas has competed in the NAL and also her second time competing in the NAL National Final. She and Skyfall took ninth place in last year's NAL Children's Jumper Final.

Now 16 years-old, Dugas began riding when she was just six. For the past two years she has been riding with Tim Maddrix and Camille Maynard at Hawks View Farm in Leeds, Alabama. She says that they are her biggest riding influences. "They have taught me so much since I started riding with them – I can't thank them enough," said Dugas. "Outside of riding, my biggest influences are my parents. The support and time they have put into my riding career is endless."

When asked about what she considers to be her biggest accomplishment, Dugas was quick to respond. "Winning the NAL Children's Jumper Final this year of course! Also, I just started competing in the equitation division and I made the Maclay Final...which exceeded my expectations!"

A junior in high school, Dugas remains highly competitive on the circuit. She says her favorite horse show is HITS Ocala, "because I get to compete against so many great riders and I get to see so many of my riding friends." She is looking forward to riding on a college team and her long term goals are to compete in Young Riders and eventually show at the Grand Prix level.

In her spare time Dugas stays involved with her community of Vestavia Hills. She volunteers for the American Heart Association as a 'Sweetheart,' and is also a 'Vestavia Belle,' serving as a city ambassador for Vestavia Hills during community events and as a volunteer.

"I just want to give one last huge thank you to my trainers Camille and Tim for their patience and expertise," added Dugas. "And especially to my parents for their love and support!"

Jef Lauwers and Sutherland Won $10,000 NAL Adult Hunter Final

Jef Lauwers, originally from Belgium and now based in Magnolia, TX, won the $10,000 NAL Adult Hunter Final at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show aboard Sutherland, a 12-year-old Oldenburg gelding owned by Peter Pletcher.

Out of a field of 30 horses, Lauwers and Sutherland had the top score in each of the two rounds, scoring 87 points each time, for a total of 174 points for the win.

“I know Sutherland is good and always nails it,” said Lauwers. “If I just stay calm and make it smooth he jumps amazingly. He jumped both rounds really well.”

Lauwers started riding ponies in his homeland at the age of 12. His parents were strict about his education, so time spent in the saddle diminished while he was away at university. He graduated with a degree in engineering (masters in Electro-Mechanics) in 2012 and although he worked in that field for several years, he missed being around horses so he got back in the saddle and started competing again.

Following his dreams, Jef decided to move to the U.S. full-time at the end of 2016. He now lives and trains at PJP Farm with Peter Pletcher, whom he met two years ago during his first visit to the Winter Equestrian Festival (WEF) in Wellington, Florida.

“Peter has taught me everything I know about the hunters and the American style of riding, but I'm definitely still learning,” said Jef. “He taught me so much about this sport in such a short period. He really gets the best out of me, everyday.”

“It is a different style of riding here in the U.S., it is a bit of an adjustment to ride loose and calm, and not really ride up to everything, but I am getting used to it. I love the hunters, how they are all about the horse, the elegance and the riding of the course. It was a really nice switch from jumpers.”

This is Lauwer's first year competing as a hunter rider in the U.S. and the NAL. He competed at WEF, followed by his first NAL Classic in March at the Pin Oak Charity Horse Show in Houston, Texas.

“I have been riding Sutherland since the first Kentucky show,” explained Lauwers. “I started riding him in the NAL and the adult divisions and I think that he's won every Classic and NAL class. He is a really nice horse, an incredible mover and jumper. He is my first hunter that we are going to keep and he will help build my career. I am really thankful that I have a horse like him, one who has the possibility to become a truly amazing horse.”

Lauwers rides six days a week and rotates all of his horses so each one gets ridden four times per week. “My favorite thing to do is to make sure they're happy and enjoying their job. I believe in a ‘happy horse, happy rider’ way of thinking. I don't obsess about getting it perfect every day. We do a lot of different things every day and try just to keep it light and have fun!”

Jaden Porter and Dragonfly's Acerado Won The $10,000 NAL Children's Hunter Final

Jaden Porter of Ladue, MO, and Dragonfly's Acerado won the $10,000 NAL Children's Hunter Final at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

Out of a starting field of 30 horses, only six riders managed to score in the 80s. In the first round, Porter and Dragonfly's Acerado landed in third place with a score of 85.5. In the second round, the pair had the top score of 87, moving them into first place with a two-round total of 172.5.

“I am a very nervous rider when it comes to something big. I just tried to be as confident as I could, even if it was false confidence, and just feel like we were going to do great, and it worked,” explained Porter.

Although Porter has been riding for nine years, she only started competing in the NAL last year. For the past five years she has enjoyed continued success under the watchful eye of trainer Stephanie Petersen.

“I want to thank everyone who got me here,” said Porter. “Especially my parents and my trainer, Stephanie Petersen, for making this all possible. I have always wanted to win something big and it has finally happened. I am very happy to have this honor.”

Porter's favorite NAL experience is winning both weeks of the NAL classes in Colorado, and she considers her biggest accomplishment to date making it to the top-twenty in the Pony Medal class at the 2016 Pony Finals.

“I would love to become a well accomplished hunter rider,” said Porter who also helps her sister with her rescued miniature horses. “I ride 5-6 days a week and love jumping bareback!”

In talking about her top horse, Dragonfly's Acerado, also known as ‘Poodle’ around the barn, Porter commented, “He is the sweetest horse I know. We have a very strong bond and he always gives me his full heart when we walk into the ring. He puts in 100% and I love that about him. He loves watermelon and all the mini horses in the barn.

“This is my first year on horses,” stated Porter. “I really loved ponies, but it is really fun to step up to the horses, because it just felt like I was getting somewhere. I picked the NAL classes because I felt confident in starting my first year off in the three-foot division. The Final was the goal. I wanted to go all year, and I got here and I did well so I am very happy about that.”
